IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF JERUSALEM

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

v.

ADOLF, the son of

ADOLF KARL EICHMANN

Aged 54, at present

Under Arrest

Indictment Presented by Attorney General

Adolf Eichmann is hereby charged as follows:

FIRST COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against the Jewish people, an offense under section 1 (a) (1) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

(a) The accused, together with others, during the period 1939 to 1945, caused the killing of millions of Jews, in his capacity as the person responsible for the execution of the Nazi plan for the physical extermination of the Jews, known as "the final solution of the Jewish problem."

(b) Immediately after the outbreak of World War II the accused was appointed head of a department of the Gestapo in Berlin, the duties of which were to locate, deport and exterminate the Jews of Germany and the other Axis countries, and the Jews of occupied areas. That department bore in succession the following distinctive numbers: IVD 4; IVB 4; IVA 4.

(c) Instructions for the execution of the plan of extermination in Germany were given by the accused directly to local commanders of the Gestapo, while in Berlin, Vienna and Prague the instructions of the accused were issued to central authorities (Zentralstelle fur Judische Auswanderung) for the direction of which the accused was personally responsible until their liquidation toward the end of World War II.

(d) In areas occupied by Germany the accused acted through the offices of the commanders of the Security Police and the S. D., and through those persons specially nominated to deal with Jewish affairs, who were appointed from the department of the accused in the Gestapo, and were subject to his instructions.

(e) In Axis countries and areas conquered by them the accused made use of the offices of the diplomatic representatives of Germany in each place, in continual coordination with the special departments of the German Foreign Ministry in Berlin which dealt with the Jewish Problem. Advisers were appointed in the offices of such diplomatic representatives from among the members of the Department of the accused, who were subject to his instructions.

(f) The accused, together with others, secured the extermination of the Jews, by — among other means — their being killed in concentration camps, the purpose of which was mass murder, the more important of such camps being as follows:

1. Auschwitz — Million of Jews were exterminated in this camp from 1941 until the end of January, 1945, in gas chambers and in crematories, and by shooting and hanging. The accused directed the commanders of the camp to use gas known as Zyklon B, and in 1942 and 1944 the accused also secured the supply of a quantity of gas for the purpose of exterminating the Jews.
2. Chelmno — This extermination camp was operated from November, 1941, to the beginning of 1945, and poison gas, among other means of extermination, was used therein.
3. Belsen — This extermination camp was operated from the beginning of 1943 until the spring of 1943, and poison gas, among other means of extermination, was used therein.
4. Sobibor — This extermination camp was operated from March, 1942, until October, 1943, and there were erected there, among other buildings erected for purposes of extermination, five stone gas chambers.
5. Treblinka — This extermination camp was operated from July 23, 1942, until November, 1943. Also in this camp poison gas, among other means of extermination, was used.
6. Maidanek — This extermination camp was operated from 1941 until July, 1944, and poison gas, among other means of extermination, was used therein.

(g) Immediately after the invasion of Poland by the German Army in September, 1939, the accused committed acts of expelling, uprooting and exterminating the population, in coordination with massacre-squads, recruited from the ranks of the German Security Police and the S.S., which were known by the name of "Operational Groups" (Einsatzgruppen). Groups of this nature also operated after the invasion of Russia in 1941, and advanced in the steps of the German Army. These groups received their orders directly from the Reich Security Head Offices (R. S. H. A.), and each such group cooperated with the accused in the extermination of the Jews in the area of its jurisdiction. These groups operated in the main on the Sabbath and Jewish festivals, which days were selected for the slaughter of Jews. These groups exterminated hundreds of thousands of Jews in the area occupied by Germany in Poland.

(h) Before the invasion by the German Army of areas of Russia and the Baltic countries of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, which were annexed to Russia, four operational groups cooperated with the accused in the extermination of Jews in the areas referred to, and in that portion of Poland which was annexed to Russia after September, 1939. The activities of such groups included the following acts, inter alia:

1. Operational Group A — During the first four months of the invasion of the areas above mentioned, by the German Army, this Group exterminated in Lithuania more than 80,000 Jews; in Latvia more than 30,000 Jews; in Estonia about 470 Jews; in Byelo-Russia more than 7,600 Jews; in Russia about 2,000 Jews; in the District of Tilsit about 5,500 Jews. A total of more than 135,000 Jews.
2. Operational Group B — Up to November 14, 1941, this group exterminated more than 45,000 Jews in Byelo-Russia and other areas.
3. Operational Group C — Up to November 3, 1941, this Group exterminated more than 75,000 Jews in the Ukraine, including 33,000 Jews in Kiev.
4. Operational Group D — Up to December 12, 1941, this Group exterminated about 54,000 Jews.
5. During the period from August to November, 1942, the operational groups referred to above exterminated some 363,000 Jews. The operational groups above mentioned operated in the same manner and for the same purpose in the said districts in the extermination of the Jews from June, 1941, until 1944, and exterminated hundreds of thousands of Jews in addition to those detailed above.

(i) At the end of 1941 the accused ordered the deportation of thousands of Jews from Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia (Protectorate) to Ghettoes in Riga, Kovno and Minsk. These Jews were exterminated and, inter alia,

1. A number of such Jews deported from the Reich (Germany) were murdered on Nov. 30, 1941, together with some 4,000 Jews from Riga.
2. Some 3,500 Jews from Germany who were sent to Minsk as aforesaid, pursuant to instructions issued by the accused, were exterminated by an operational group in Byelo-Russia together with 55,000 more Jews who were residents of that district.

(j) During the years 1940-1945 the accused, together with others, caused the killing of hundreds of thousands of Jews in forced labor camps which were conducted on the lines of concentration camps, and in which such Jews were enslaved, tortured and starved to death in Germany, and in countries occupied by Germany.

(k) The accused, together with others, caused the killing of still more hundreds of thousands of Jews during the years 1939-1945 in Germany and the other Axis countries, and the areas occupied by them, by their mass deportation and concentration in Ghettoes and other concentration points under cruel and inhuman conditions, that is to say, in the following countries:

Germany, Austria, Italy, Bulgaria, Belgium, U. S. S. R. (and the Baltic States, Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, which were annexed to the U. S. S. R., and that part of Poland which was annexed to the U. S. S. R. after September, 1939), Denmark, Holland, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Greece, Luxembourg, Monaco, Norway, Poland, Czechoslovakia, France, Rumania.

(l) The accused caused the killing of some half a million Hungarian Jews by means of their mass deportation to the extermination camp at Auschwitz and other places during the period from March 19, 1944, to Dec. 24, 1944, at a time when he acted as head of the "Eichmann Special Operations Unit" (Sonderreinsatz-Kommando Eichmann) in Budapest.

(m) All the acts mentioned in this count were committed by the accused with the intention of destroying the Jewish people.

SECOND COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against the Jewish people, an offense under section 1 (a) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

(a) During the period from 1939 to 1945 the accused, together with others, placed many millions of Jews in living conditions which were calculated to bring about their physical destruction, and took steps toward this end in Germany and the other Axis countries, in the areas occupied by them, and in the areas in which they exercised de facto control. During the period aforesaid, and pursuant to his duties as stated in the first count, and for the purpose of executing "the final solution of the Jewish problem," the accused committed the following acts in respect of such Jews:

1. Putting them to work in forced labor camps.
2. Sending them to Ghettoes and detaining them there.
3. Driving them into transit camps and other concentration points.
4. Deporting them and conveying them by mass transportation under inhuman conditions.

All the said acts were committed by the accused for the same purposes, in the same manner, and in the same places mentioned in the First Count.

(b) All the said acts were committed by the accused with the intention of destroying the Jewish people.

THIRD COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against the Jewish people, an offense under section 1 (a) (1) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

(a) During the period of the Nazi regime the accused fulfilled certain duties in the Security Services of S. S. (S. D.) in dealing with Jews, in accordance with the program of the Nazi Party (N.S.D.A.P.). After the outbreak of World War II these duties were combined with the duties of the department in the Gestapo which is described in the First Count, at the head of which stood the accused.

(b) During the whole of the period aforesaid the accused, together with others, caused serious physical and mental harm to millions of Jews in Germany and the other Axis countries, in areas occupied by them and in areas under their de facto control, in the countries detailed in the First Count.

(c) The accused, together with others, caused the serious harm aforesaid by the enslavement, starvation, deportation and persecution of the said Jews and by their detention in Ghettoes, transit camps and concentration camps in conditions which were designed to cause their degradation, the deprivation of their rights as human beings and to suppress them and cause them inhuman suffering and torture.

(d) The accused, together with others, committed the acts aforesaid through measures the more important of which were as follows:

1. The sudden, mass arrest of Jews without any guilt on their part or judicial decision, and merely by reason of their being Jews, and the torture of such Jews in concentration camps such as those at Dachau and Buchenwald.
2. The organization on the night of November 9 and 10, 1938, of the mass persecution of some 20,000 Jews from Germany and Austria by arrest, cruel beatings, causing serious bodily harm, and torture in concentration camps.
3. The organization of the social and economic boycott of Jews and their designation as a subhuman racial group.
4. The application of the laws known as the Nuremberg Laws in order to deprive millions of Jews in all the countries specified in the first count of their human rights.

(e) The acts aforesaid were committed by the accused with the intention of destroying the Jewish people.

FOURTH COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against the Jewish people, an offense under section 1 (a) (1) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

(a) As from 1942 the accused, together with others, devised measures the purpose of which was to prevent childbearing among the Jews of Germany and countries occupied by her.

(b) The devising of such measures by the accused, by virtue of his duty as head of the Department for Jewish Affairs in the Gestapo in Berlin, was also designed to advance the "final solution of the Jewish problem."

(c) The measures referred to included:

1. The instructions of the accused to Dr. Epstein who was Head of the Council of Elders in the Concentration Camp of Theresienstadt during 1943-1944, in regard to the forbidding of births in the camp and in regard to the interruption of pregnancy by artificial abortion in all cases and at all stages of pregnancy.
2. An order by the German police in the Baltic countries in 1942, against Jewish women in the Ghetto of Kovno, forbidding birth and compelling such women to undergo operations for abortion in all stages of pregnancy.
3. On Oct. 27, 1942, in the offices of the accused IVB4 (R.S.H.A.) in Berlin, the accused, together with others devised measures for the sterilization of the offspring of mixed marriages of the first degree among Jews in Germany and in areas occupied by her in accordance with the following principles:

(aa) The sterilization will be performed on the offspring of the mixed marriages, Jews or Jewesses with their consent, in return for the favor of their being given the right to remain within the area governed by the German Reich.

(bb) The offspring of the mixed marriages will be entitled to choose between sterilization and deportation to extermination areas in the East.

(cc) It will be suggested by the authorities to the offspring of the mixed marriages to choose deportation.

(dd) Those who choose deportation will be separated according to their sex in order to prevent any further births.

(ee) The sterilization will be carried out secretly and in a camouflaged manner.

(d) In devising the measures aforesaid, the accused intended to destroy the Jewish people.

FIFTH COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against humanity, an offense under section 1 (a) (2) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

The accused, during the period 1939 to 1945, committed in Germany and other Axis countries, in areas occupied by them and in areas controlled by them de facto acts constituting a crime against humanity in that, together with others, he caused the murder, extermination, enslavement, starvation and deportation of the civilian Jewish population in those countries and areas.

The accused committed those acts whilst functioning in the capacities specified in the First Count.

SIXTH COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against humanity, an offense under section 1 (a) (2) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

The accused, in carrying out the acts described in Counts 1 to 5 above, persecuted Jews on national, racial, religious and political grounds.

SEVENTH COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against humanity, an offense under section 1 (a) (2) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

(a) During the period of the Nazi regime in Germany and the other Axis countries, in the countries occupied by them and in the areas subject to their de facto control, the accused, together with others, caused the spoliation of the property of millions of Jews resident in the countries aforesaid, by means of inhuman measures involving compulsion, theft, terrorism and torture.

(b) Such measures included:

1. The establishment, organization and operation of "the Central Authority for the Emigration of Jews" (Zentralstelle fur Judische Auswanderung) in Vienna, from immediately after the entry of the Nazis into Austria in March, 1938, until the end of World War II, through which authority the accused transferred the property of the Jews of Austria and all the Jewish communities of that State into German control. Part of this property was stolen for the purpose of financing the expulsion of the Jews of Austria to places beyond the borders of that state, and part of such property was transferred to the authorities by means of compulsion and measure of terrorism against its owners.
2. The establishment of the "Central Authority for the Emigration of Jews" in Prague after the Nazi invasion of Czechoslovakia in March, 1939, until the end of World War II and the organization and operation of that authority by the accused in the same manner as the Central Authority in Vienna. By means of this authority a "special account" was operated through which the property of the Jews who had been robbed by the accused, together with others, in Czechoslovakia itself and in other countries, was transferred to the control of Germany.
3. The establishment of a Central Authority for the Emigration of Jews and the Affairs of German Jews (Reichszentrale) in Berlin in 1939 and its operation by the accused until the end of World War II.

Property Crime Charged

By means of this Central Authority, as was the case with the Central Authority in Vienna, the accused, together with others, despoiled the property of the German Jews, both the individual property as well as the property of the various Jewish communities in that country by the same methods and under the same conditions as were prescribed by him in regard to the authorities in Vienna and Prague.

4. The accused compelled hundreds of thousands of Jews to finance their deportation to extermination camps and other centers of mass slaughter by the levy of compulsory payments upon deportees from Germany and areas occupied by her. For this purpose the accused conducted a special account 'W' which was placed at the sole disposal of his department.
5. The property of Jews who were murdered in German occupied countries in Eastern Europe was also stolen by their murderers, members of the S. S.

In order to centralize the acts of plunder special actions were organized in 1942-1943 within the framework of the special operation for the murder of Jews in Poland known as "Aktion Reinhardt." The person in charge of this special operation was the commander of the Security Police and S. D. in the District of Lublin. During the two said years, property, the nominal value of which was 200,000,000 marks, was stolen but the actual value thereof was several times in excess of that sum.

Removal of Bodies

6. During World War II and up to a short time before its conclusion, freight trains containing the movable property of persons murdered in extermination camps, concentration points and Ghettoes were run month by month from the occupied districts in the East to Germany. This property also contained vast amounts of parts of the bodies of the murdered persons, such as hair, gold teeth, false teeth and artificial limbs; all other personal effects were also robbed from the bodies of the Jews before their extermination and thereafter.
7. The accused, together with others, planned all the acts of extensive robbery in order that the property of the millions who were sent to extermination should be taken from them and conveyed to Germany. The extent of the success of such robbery is reflected by the fact that when the Germans, at the time of their retreat in January 1945, burnt twenty-nine stores of personal effects and valuables out of thirty-five such stores which had been erected in the extermination camp at Auschwitz, the six stores saved from the fire were found to contain, inter alia: 348,820 men's suits; 836,255 women's dresses; 38,000 men's shoes.

(c) The accused committed the said acts until the end of 1939 in the exercise of his special functions in the Security Service of the S. S. (S. D.); and from the end of that year the accused combined these functions with his functions in Office IV of the R. S. H. A.

(d) The accused executed the spoliation of the property of the Jews of Germany and the other areas occupied by her, in addition to those already mentioned hereintofore in this count, by giving instructions to local commanders of the Security Police and, in Axis countries and areas occupied by such countries, through the offices of the diplomatic representatives of Germany as described in the first count.

EIGHTH COUNT

Nature of offense:

War crime, an offense under section 1 (a) (3) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

The accused, during the period of World War II, in Germany and other Axis states and in areas occupied by them, committed acts constituting a war crime in that, together with others, he caused the ill-treatment, deportation and murder of Jewish inhabitants of the states occupied by Germany and other Axis states.

The accused committed these acts whilst functioning in the capacities specified in the first count.

NINTH COUNT

Nature of offense:

Crime against humanity, an offense under section 1 (a) (2) of the Nazis and Nazi Collaborators (Punishment) Law, 5710-1950, and section 23 of the Criminal Code Ordinance, 1936.

Particulars of offense:

The accused, between 1940 and 1942, in Poland, then occupied by Germany, committed acts constituting a crime against humanity in that, together with others, he caused the deportation of over half a million Polish civilians from their places of residence with intent to settle German families in those places.

The Polish deportees were in part transferred to Germany and German occupied areas for the purpose of their employment and detention under conditions of enslavement, coercion and terrorism; in part abandoned in other regions of Poland and German occupied areas in the East; in part concentrated under inhuman conditions in labor camps organized by the S. S.; and in part transferred to Germany for the purpose of re-Germanization (Rueckverdeutschung).

The accused committed these acts under a special appointment dated December, 1939, by which

WORLD JEWISH CONGRESS SEEKS MAJDANEK CAMP WITNESSES

A global search has been instituted by the World Jewish Congress in New York for survivors from the Majdanek concentration camp in Poland where 250,000 Jews were gassed and shot by the Nazis. The survivors are required to provide evidence against camp officials sought for prosecution by the West German authorities.

Majdanek, once a camp for Polish Jewish prisoners of war, was transformed into a concentration camp by the Germans for the Jews from the ghettos of Warsaw, Lublin, and its surrounding areas. There were five sectors, each split into twenty-four barracks. Majdanek was the scene of one of the Nazis' most monstrous acts. In one single day, November 9, 1943, there were 18,000 Jews murdered. In all, about 250,000 victims died in the gas chambers and at the hands of Nazi firing squads, and their bodies were burned in the crematoria of the camp.

Former Majdanek internees are requested to get in touch with Dr. Nehemiah Robinson, director of the World Jewish Congress Institute of Jewish Affairs, 15 East 84th Street, New York 28, N.Y.

WHAT MAKES A PARTY?

Well, first of all, good company makes a party. Good food, good drink, and good music all help. We can't provide the food, we don't have a liquor licence, and it's up to you to provide the company. But we do know how to provide the entertainment — that's our business.

If you want to be lavish, you could hire us to play Beethoven. We've done it before. But most people like their parties to have relaxing, happy, entertaining music. We can give you just what you want — big bands, little bands, singers, instrumentalists, and dancers.

As we said, that's our business. Why not call us?

Zionism Must Go On The Offensive In America

Excerpts from an address at a public meeting of the American Zionist Council in New York

BY DR. NAHUM GOLDMANN, PRESIDENT OF THE WORLD ZIONIST ORGANIZATION

The American Zionist movement must react decisively to the attacks on Zionism that have recently come from various quarters in America. Its reply must be in the form of an ideological offensive within American Jewry aimed at increasing the influence of Zionism in American Jewish life.

These attacks on the Zionist movement and the cheap advice given to dissolve it are the result of a malicious attitude toward Israel and a misinterpretation of the situation of both Israel and the Jewish communities. The Zionist movement remains, by far, the most potent and dynamic force in Jewish life. It has a record equaled by few historical movements, having brought about the creation of the State of Israel. Yet Zionism is still a long way from having achieved its ultimate objectives. These remain the insurance of the security of Israel, the ingathering into Israel of all those hundreds of thousands of Jews to whom Israel is the only salvation, the increase of Western Jewish immigration to Israel and, above all, the establishment of Israel as the one spiritual and moral center of Jewish existence.

Two lines of attack against Israel have lately been developed. The one, emanating from non-Jews, is exemplified by the recent editorial which appeared in "Life" magazine. The other has been directed from various Jewish quarters in the United States. With regard to the first line attack, I reject the thesis of the "Life" editorial, namely "that American Zionism has had an occasionally distorting influence on U.S. foreign policy in the Middle East," which would otherwise presumably be more amenable to Arab wishes. Israel is, on the contrary, the only reliable friend of the West in the Middle East. If we are to accept this kind of reasoning as valid, then it would be equally valid to expect the U.S. to cease supporting France and other Western states at odds with the Arabs, in short, to yield to extreme Arab demands on all issues.

Secondly, "Life's" interpretation of Zionism as having its origin in anti-Semitism shows complete ignorance of both Jewish history and the Zionist movement. The longing for Zion and the ideal of a Jewish homeland is as old as the Jewish Diaspora and was increased only in its urgency by modern anti-Semitism. Apart from any spiritual, religious, and cultural function it may have served, Zionism's principal aim was to end the dispersion of the Jewish people and create a nation in which the Jewish people as a majority could develop to the full its own genius. To this, the Jews have the same sacred right as every other people, and this fact was recognized by the United Nations in its historic decision which led to the creation of Israel. For "Life" magazine and its adherents to attempt to deny this right and to explain Zionism as a mere reaction to anti-Semitism which has lost its meaning since the defeat of the Nazis is to express a view historically based on ignorance, a lack of understanding of the Jewish problem, and totally without moral justification.

The hints in the "Life" editorial to the problem of so-called dual loyalty on the part of American Jews are equally objectionable. Jews have as much right to be attached culturally, religiously and spiritually to Israel as other American minorities have to their religious and collective allegiances. Without the concept of Zion, Jewish religion and Jewish history lose the very essence of their meaning and their unique character. To deprive an American Jew of this right is to strip him of his equality as an American. This is a right for which Jews have fought and suffered for centuries and it is certainly not to be denied them in a modern democracy.

The attacks on Zionism from Jewish quarters in the U.S. are quite another matter. They are based on a number of fallacies. The first asks that we accept as fact the quaint notion that differences no longer exist between the Zionist and non-Zionist and that therefore the Zionist movement can be replaced by a nebulous all-embracing Jewish organization. Yet, while it is undoubtedly true that the majority of the Jewish people supports Israel, at least financially and sentimentally, it is naive to believe that the majority of Jews have adopted the Zionist program. How many Jewish organizations in America fully accept the Zionist emphasis on the centrality of Israel in Jewish life, the attachment to Israel as their primary Jewish concern, the principle of Aliyah of the Jewish youth of the Western world, the need for Jewish Day Schools, the perpetuation of the Hebrew language? The world Jewish community, especially in the United States, is in many of its parts still far from having adopted the Zionist program. One can rightly criticize American Zionists for being lukewarm Zionists, but this does not eliminate the necessity for a Zionist organization. On the contrary, it makes it all the more imperative that its members be stronger Zionists.

In this respect, the tasks of the Zionist movement in relation to American Jewry have become increasingly important because of the growing indifference to Israel, especially among the younger generation. The danger of complete assimilation of a large part of this generation can only be thwarted by a strengthening of its spiritual ties to Israel and the Zionist concept of Jewish life centered about Israel. These dangers are increasing and make the goals of the Zionist movement more and more imperative in the United States and in other countries.

At this moment, there is no possibility that any single, all-embracing Jewish organization would accept the full Zionist program. What is necessary is that we bring the large majority of non-Zionist Jewish groups and organizations closer to Zionism, that we get them to cooperate and participate in Zionist activities even if they do not fully join with the Zionist Organization. But simply to proclaim in a sensational manner the dissolution of the Zionist movement in favor of a nebulous, all-embracing Jewish organization is pure dilettantism based on superficiality and demagogy. Israel faces periods of grave danger and will require the devotion and allegiance of a strong Zionist movement as its primary projection for many years to come. The Jewish Diaspora, needless to say, will require the strength of Zionism and its concept of Jewish destiny more than ever before.

It is for these reasons that the Zionist movement in America must go on the offensive. It must do everything within its power to become the leading force in American Jewish life. It can accomplish this only through bold, united action. The moment has come to implement the decisions of the 25th World Zionist Congress to unite within the American Zionist Council, the primary instrument of Zionist activity in all fields of American Jewish life, and to strike back hard at the fashionable game of criticizing and giving unwanted advice to the Zionist movement. Without this united effort the World Zionist Organization cannot continue to play its historical role and to implement its program without which there is no future either for Israel or for the Jewish communities of the world.

Times Square Was Named Warsaw Ghetto Square For A Day

Times Square, in New York, known as the "Crossroads of the world," was renamed Warsaw Ghetto Square for a day in commemoration of the 18th anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising in which more than 60,000 Jews, men, women, and children, the entire population of the beleaguered ghetto were slaughtered by Nazi artillery, flame-throwers, and dynamite.

The ceremonies of renaming the Square were sponsored by the Zionist Organization of America jointly with its Manhattan Region. Zionist leaders attended and issued statements on the significance of what was termed "a valiant episode in the blackest chapter of the history of world civilization." They included Max Bressler, president of the Zionist Organization of America; Carol Pickel, president of the Manhattan Zionist Region; Dr. Isaac I. Schwarzbart, former member of the Polish Parliament; Dr. Sidney Marks, national secretary of the ZOA; Abram Salomon, public relations chairman of the Manhattan Region.

The anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising is being observed annually according to the Hebrew date of the 27th Nissan which this year occurred on Thursday, April 13.

Max Bressler, president of the ZOA, in his statement emphasized that "in commemorating today the courage and supreme sacrifice made by a handful of the Warsaw Ghetto resistance fighters against the brutal armed might of the Nazi Juggernaut, we pay tribute to a valiant group that has forever destroyed the myth of Jewish submission to persecution and slaughter. These defenders of Jewish dignity and honor presaged the heroism displayed exactly five years later by ill-armed Israel Jewry against the invading armies of seven Arab states.

"All Americans can take a lesson from the epochal drama of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising, namely, that if freedom is to be preserved we must learn how to be united in life as the enemy of freedom united the martyrs of the uprising in death."

In his statement Carol Pickel, president of the Manhattan Zionist Region, declared that the commemoration of the heroic resistance by a handful of Warsaw Ghetto fighters against the might of the Nazi hordes is a challenge to the world to nurture and keep alive the torch of freedom, equality, and the dignity of man.

He said that the extermination of the Warsaw Ghetto fighters, who were part of six million Jews slaughtered by the Nazis, should spur all nations to condemn the perpetrators of genocide as world criminals and mass murderers. He voiced regret that the United States has not yet ratified the United Nations Convention banning genocide even though this Convention has been ratified by 64 nations.

Dr. Isaac I. Schwarzbart, former member of the Polish Parliament, in his statement declared that "the eternal meaning and purpose of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising will be realized only if the Jewish people, and particularly the coming generations, feel and understand that the spirit which animated the fighters of the Warsaw Ghetto uprising is an integral, inseparable part of the eternal spirit which keeps our people alive and active, creative and optimistic, despite all disillusionment and ever recurring suffering."

Dr. Schwarzbart further said that "we of the present generation must not only not forget but teach our children in the home and in the school the deeper meaning of this revolt. It is part and parcel of the spirit of the Maccabees, of the heroic defenders of the State of Israel, of the fighters of Massada, of the generations who died in the middle ages for the sake of our faith and religion, as well as centuries later for true humanity and morality in relations between man and nations."

At the time of the outbreak of World War II in September, 1939, there were about 330,000 Jews in Warsaw, the capital of Poland. In October, 1940, the Nazis who occupied Poland herded this large number of Jews into a ghetto fenced in by walls and barbed wire. Later, the area of this ghetto was reduced through starvation, torture, and deportation of its residents. At the end of October, 1942, only some 60,000 Jews remained in the ghetto.

When word reached the ghetto of Nazi plans to exterminate the remnants of the Jews there, all groups in the ghetto organized themselves into an organization of resistance fighters. Every man and every woman was given an assignment according to a plan. They were poorly armed but were animated by a burning zeal in their hearts to fight unto death.

The uprising started in the middle of the night on the 19th of April, 1943, the first Passover Seder. At the moment when SS troops with machine-guns, artillery, and searchlights invaded the ghetto in order to raze it completely, the fighters sprang to arms and everyone took to his battle station.

The uneven battle came to an end in the second half of the month of May when the fighters fell before the heavy artillery, flame-throwers and other modern weapons of death which were levelled against them in a merciless barrage. The SS Nazi troops were led by General Jurgen Stroop who was specifically entrusted with the task of destroying the remaining remnants of the Jews of Warsaw. At the end of the uprising the Nazi general reported triumphantly: "There is no more any inhabited Jewish quarter in Warsaw."
